

The Conference „The Multidimensional Self-Control Scale (MSCN): Development and Validation” held by professor Fredrik Andre Nilsen in “Henri Coandă” Air Force Academy

“Henri Coandă” Air Force Academy in Braşov hosted on Monday, October 17, at the opening of the “Train-the-Trainer” session, the conference of professor Fredrik Andre Nilsen, PhD, from Norwegian Military Academy, on “The Multidimensional Self-Control Scale (MSCN): Development and Validation”. Also, professor Nilsen presented the leadership training program within the Norwegian Military Academy, with a focus on the objectives and curricular contents of training military leaders. The event took place in the amphitheater F 3.4, and was opened by the speech of Col (AF) Assoc Prof Marius Şerbeszki, PhD, commandant (rector) of “Henri Coandă” Air Force Academy. The event was attended by teaching and military staff from the host academy and from “Carol I” National Defense University, Bucharest, “Mircea cel Bătrân” Naval Academy, Constanţa, “Nicolae Bălcescu” Land Forces Academy, Sibiu, “Ferdinand I” Military Technical Academy, Bucharest, but also by members of the Combat Mindset Training for Romanian Military Students (CoMind) project team, including Capt (r) professor Ole Boe, PhD, from the University of South-Eastern Norway, Drammen/ Police Academy, Oslo, Norway, and Col Vasile Doru Marineanu, the president of the Military Psychology Society Association.

“The Multidimensional Self-Control Scale (MSCN)” is a psychological tool adapted and implemented through CoMind project, coordinated by “Henri Coandă” Air Force Academy, in partnership with the University of South-Eastern Norway, Drammen and Military Psychology Society Association, and financed by Norwegian/ SEE Grants.

The CoMind project team/ “Henri Coandă” Air Force Academy Press Office